The expression of the neck is very important for the correct execution of the head. Start by stretching your arms overhead and keeping your head in a neutral position. This will help to engage your neck muscles and improve the range of motion.

1. Stretch your arms overhead and keep your head neutral.