AUTSCAPE

2020  Vision

27-30 July

If you want to do a lightning talk or entertainment evening performance, email the Programme Coordinator at programme@autscope.org

Book for Autscope by midday 20 July here:

A real life Autscope isn't just lectures, and an online Autscope doesn't mean just staring at faces all day. There will be many interactive sessions, and the following are ones that you may want to have time to prepare a contribution for. Spaces for some are limited, so if you want to contribute, see the sidebar for how to let us know.

Workshop

2:00pm on Wednesday 29 July

Spencer Hunley will be presenting a workshop on using memes as an aid to communication. We are still working out the details, but there will be an opportunity to share memes, so you might want to consider whether you have a favourite meme others might enjoy.

Interactive activities

Sparklies in the dark

9:30pm on Monday 27 July

Visual stims are particularly on theme this year, so we couldn't do without adapting the Sparklies event. Being online allows for some new options. Do you have a favourite stimmy video or toy you could share? A sensory space at home you could show us? Some other kind of visual enjoyment? Come and show something, or just see what others bring.

Lightning talks

3:00pm on Tuesday 28 July

Do you have a project or interest you want to tell others about? You can give a 5 minute talk on almost any subject.

Entertainment evening

8:30pm on Thursday 30 July

To round off the event on the last night, participants are invited to entertain an audience. Each contribution is a maximum of 5 minutes. You can do your performance live or pre-record it to share on the night. Almost any type of performance is welcome, e.g. readings, singing, comedy, playing instruments, or more alternative 'variety' acts.
